DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-10 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hanson et al (6,460,094).

Regarding Claim 1, Hanson et al teaches an apparatus comprising a serial port (45, 46 in fig.1) configured to interface with a separate host (fig.1-3; col.3, line 35 - col.4, line 65); one serial interface engine (SIE) connected to the serial port (fig.1-3); a first interface unit (40 in fig.1) and a second interface unit (30 in fig.1) connected to the serial interface engine (summary; figs. 1-5; col.3, line 35- col.5, line 63).

Regarding Claim 2, Hanson et al teaches that the first interface unit is a keyboard interface (40 in fig.1).

Regarding Claim 3, Hanson et al teaches that the second interface unit is a flash media drive interface is same as optical disk drive (30 in fig.1; col.3, lines 45 - 62).

Regarding Claim 4, Hanson et al teaches that the apparatus further includes a virtual hub comprising a firmware unit configured to emulate a hub having multiple ports (Fig.1; col.3, lines 21-35).

Regarding Claim 5, Hanson et al teaches that the apparatus is housed within a keyboard. (40 in fig.1)

Regarding Claim 6, Hanson et al teaches that the apparatus is a Universal Serial Bus (USB) peripheral (100 in fig.2a, 120 in fig.2b) and the serial port is a Universal Serial Bus port (45 in fig.1; 102 in fig.2a,2b).

Regarding Claim 7, Hanson et al teaches that the apparatus wherein the serial interface engine is connected to a controller, and the first interface unit and the second interface unit are connected to the controller (figs. 1,5; col.3, line 36- col.4, line 51; col.8, line 15- col.9 , line 20).

Regarding Claim 8, Hanson et al teaches that the third interface unit (42 in fig.1) is connected to the serial interface unit (fig.1; col.3, line 36- col.4, line 51).

Regarding Claim 9 , Hanson et al teaches that the apparatus wherein the serial port, the serial interface engine (SIE), and the first interface unit and the second interface unit are integrated on a signal device (fig.1; col.3, line 36- col.4, line 51).

Regarding Claim 10, Hanson et al teaches that the third interface is connected to the serial port, the third interface having a second serial interface engine (fig.1; col.3, line 36- col.4, line 51).

Regarding Claim 26, Hanson et al teaches an apparatus comprising a serial port (45, 46 in fig.1) configured to interface with a separate host (fig.1-3; col.3, line 35 - col.4, line 65); one serial interface engine (SIE) connected to the serial port (fig.1-3); a keyboard interface unit (40 in fig.1) and a flash media drive interface unit interface is same as optical disk drive (30 in fig.1; col.3, lines 45 - 62) connected to the serial interface engine (summary; figs. 1-5; col.3, line 35- col.5, line 63) ; and a virtual hub comprising a firmware unit configured to emulate a hub having multiple ports (Fig.1; col.3, lines 21-35).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed on 6-3-2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues that Hanson does not teach an apparatus comprising a first interface unit and a second interface unit connected to the serial interface engine ; and a virtual hub comprising a firmware unit configured to emulate a hub having multiple ports.

However, Hanson does teach an apparatus comprising a first (keyboard) interface unit (40 in fig.1) and a second (flash media drive) interface unit interface is same as optical disk drive (30 in fig.1; col.3, lines 45 - 62) connected to the serial interface engine (summary; figs. 1-5; col.3, line 35- col.5, line 63); and a virtual hub comprising a firmware unit configured to emulate a hub having multiple ports (Fig.1; col.3, lines 21-35).

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
